RELATED: D.A. charges three election workers with voter fraud

D.A. Seth Williams' Election Fraud Task Force announced charges against three women in June.

Trainor admitted that while serving as judge of a polling place at Castor Cayuga Street, she went into the voting booth with her husband and told him to vote for during the May primary.

She then cast a vote in the name of her son, who was absent, all without permission from Murtaugh, the minority elections inspector at the polling place and the above acts.
